CT MICR Toner

The goal of MICR encoding checks is to make them easily readable by the broadest range of high speed processing equipment. As such, it only makes sense to use high quality toner products specifically designed to meet the exacting requirements of the financial industry. Which is exactly why many companies have standardized on Capella Technologies MICR Toner Cartridges.

Guaranteed Quality

The American National Standard Institute (ANSI) has set rigid standards for the permanence and signal strength of MICR characters. Our MICR Toner Cartridges are tested to meet and exceed these signal strength standards. In fact, when used as instructed with the appropriate supporting equipment and software, Capella Technologies MICR Toner is guaranteed to produce MICR encoded checks that are readable by financial institutions, the Federal Reserve System and the Canadian Payments Association.

HP OEM Cartridges

To ensure compatibility with your HP LaserJet printer or MFP, we start with quality HP OEM cartridges. It is the HP original parts and quality MICR Toner that sets Capella Technologies apart.

Designed for Your Printers

The way that a printer applies MICR toner to paper varies from one model of printer to another. As a result, MICR toner that has been formulated for one type of printer will often not meet the American Bankers Association (ABA) MICR standards of performance if used in a different model of printer. Capella Technologies ensures compliance by fully testing and expressly engineering several different types of MICR toner to support each of the wide range of toner cartridges and printer models available. When you are using a quality test MICR font and printer and purchase the appropriate MICR Toner Cartridge from Capella Technologies, you know that it was fully designed, built and tested to create financial industry standard MICR characters on your specific model of printer or MFP.
